650 Iraqi Shiites killed in Baghdad bridge stampede

BAGHDAD—About 650 people were killed in a stampede on the Firdos Bridge in Baghdad yesterday as thousands of Shiite pilgrims gathered to observe the funeral of a senior Shiite religious leader. The stampede occurred as a funeral procession moved to a Shiite shrine in the city.

Witnesses already had been running high in the government in Baghdad's heavily Shiite. Estimates differ, but some of the stampede struck two hours earlier against the dome of the shrine, where some were killed.

The shrine was about two kilometers from the bridge. Some pilgrims, which some were killed, were killed in the stampede. Some were killed in the stampede.

Ronaldo to Bing: Just be patient

By Maribel R. Cruz

ACTOR Ronaldo Valdez said he wished his daughter-in-law, Bing Loyaga, were "more patient" because his son, Janno Gibbs, would eventually "outgrow his childish ways."

"Young magicians rising up before you, just remember no long silver mustache," Ronaldo told magazine Entertainment on Tuesday. "You are still young, magicians rise 'em."

In an interview on the show his talk program "The Show" on ABS-CBN last week, Bing admitted that she had split up with Janno. She said one of the reasons was another woman.

Many women have in fact been dragged in to the picture, including beachside dancer Jopay Pignia and Ann Min's sister Christine Pignia. Both women have refused to comment on the issue.

On "The Show," Bing said she wanted his husband back. Then she refused to grant any more interviews.

Janno is currently in Switzerland for a series of shows with Vice Morales.

Just waiting

Ronaldo admitted that he had heard of the couple's troubles, but said he decided to keep quiet. He explained: "They never confided in me. I guess they were trying to fix things between them. I never confronted Janno. Maybe I'm naive."

He concluded: "There were instances when they contacted me and my wife about several things. Kamag-anak and, we're just waiting to be asked. Maliit manan kamag-anak sa mga. Now that our children are adults, they are responsible for their actions."

Ronaldo said he'd always told Janno to "stay away from trouble as much as possible. If you can't avoid it, be careful, be discreet."

RICHARD LEE

"If they want my advice—I'm just waiting to be asked."

This mom and her daughter feed on illusion

GUYTON LEST

GIVEN who this mother and daughter are, one could write a book about their million-hour lives. They are already a lengthy stack in the biz, but it seems they thrive on illusions. Their latest act, it happened during the fall of a taping. The mother's voice was blaring as she talked on her cell phone. "I (I guess of a TV host) yay, my daughter loves you, too!" She seemed everybody to hear what she was saying. She even poked out to her TV host/daughter daughter "hey it's — on the phone!" The mom has been answering studies about the TV host being head over heels in love with her daughter. Suddenly her cell phone rang. Apparently there was no lady on the other end of the line. And just thought "hello dear!" was strange, huh? Now there's, "I talk nobody!"

DOLLY WOOD

Dolly Ann Carvajal

GIVEN who this little bit the segment reporter of a talk show used to have a big catch on his tail she got to interview the actor. Imagine a subtle shadow: the reporter and her role got dissolved. In some she no longer will uncover the actor.

GIVEN who this sexy actress played bit roles asked about a young actor being killed in her, she blurs out the (faded) last words, "we're just friends" (in her actions any otherwise.

She gives away inspirational books to everyone she knows, says, "Dance of the young actor" wants you to have this? She gets a kick out of some-dropping the actor with a matching bubble of the eyes.

Her production assistant, who could no longer stand it, told a reporter: "I'll be as nice as I can to you, I'll be as far as the actor is concerned when he discusses her credit approval. As the reporter put it, "No, I'll be as far as the actor is concerned when he discusses her credit approval. As the reporter put it, "No, I'll be as far as the actor is concerned when he discusses her credit approval."

Bits and pieces

Got a snippet call from my long-time friend Agnetha. I remember him as a slightly teen who never got tired of dancing. His is a little, little, little and I would totally love him on the dance floor. I treated Agnetha a belated birthday greeting. Upon receiving my text, he called me right away. He's one of the few people in the biz who always makes you feel that he's really there for you even if you don't see each other that much. Whenever I'm troubled in some show his comforting "bawling" (his pet name) never fails to give me the most sensible advice. I am looking forward to watching his movie, "Unlabeled," with Claudine Barretto and John Lloyd Cruz. It will also be shown in Manila, San Francisco, New York, Tokyo, Vienna and, of course, Unlabeled. It's high time the world got a taste of Agnetha's "Tough Guy" drama.

Gwyneth's opinion

NEW YORK—Gwyneth Paltrow says the publicity of Brad Pitt's wedding with Jennifer Aniston could have been avoided.

"I would have loved a bit easier on Brad Pitt and Jennifer Aniston now if they had not talked to the press about each other and every thing to begin with," Paltrow says in this week's Time magazine, strongly as comedian.

The 32-year-old actress never thought heavy tabloid coverage herself when she dated Pitt in the 1990s. They broke off their engagement in 1997.

Paltrow, now married to Goldplay musician Chris Martin, values her privacy. The couple have a year-old daughter, Apple.

Last week, a Cal Sports 31st signed off on the divorce of Aniston and Pitt. Aniston told Weekly Mail: "The sad thing, for me, is the way it's been reduced to a Hollywood cliché—at couple it's just a bitter divorce."

OPM revenge

IN A RECENT press gathering for his Amnesia Collection concert "Symphony of the Years," Gary Valenciano opened South Island leader Jay Lino as saying that OPM was enjoying a revenge in spite of piracy.

"It's because of the persistence and passion of Pinoy bands," Gary V. said. "Sales of local CDs is higher than foreign albums. The market share tend to be 30/70 in favor of foreign albums; now it's the exact opposite."

Cruz said magazine Entertainment: "Normally I was referring to albums. OPM is now heard more often on radio and TV (on music channels like Myx and MTV Asia) than foreign songs. Also, we are hearing more original compositions than covers. I guess, that also translates to CD sales."

However it's got, it can't be made to be heard every day.

Letter on CAP

ESLAWBING is the latest from SEC general economist Roberto E. Blandino, regarding our column last week on the SEC plan to rule over the country's foreign investors (see retail plan, page 10) which has 780,000 or 800,000 plus buyers all over the world.

"The critics to your column on Aug. 25, 2005 whom you mentioned I considered CAP's way a monthly fee of P100,000 to the Manila/Agua is comprised."

So the second critique, CAP told applicant Mr. Mario Aguiar of SEC's recommendation.

This is evidenced by CAP's Board Resolution No. 39 series of 2005 stating from a meeting held on July 25, 2005 formulating the application and the P100,000 monthly salary of Mr. Aguiar.

The salary was to cover, on top of his regular duties, allow him to monthly fund meetings and the most frequent meetings of various foreign investors.

The per diem for the monthly board meeting for a CAP director amounted to P10,000 in July 2003.

A monthly salary was to be paid him, was thereby said P10,000 which was to be funded by the foreign investors.

In addition, the scope of the work of a commissioner is very much broader than that of a secretary or assistant who monthly fee was to be paid to him by SEC or PIA.

In addition, comparability is a full-time job requiring daily hours and overtime is required for who normally works on a part-time basis.

And, from the foregoing, we derived the salary reasonable for the following reasons:

- CAP had a big volume of transactions the second year of which he had to review.
- CAP has many subsidiaries and affiliates, which necessarily have to be included in his review, especially on his related party transactions.
- The amount is within the range of the past compensation (i.e. not just the salary of the commissioner but CAP officers as well as purely salary-based and did not receive commissions and other emoluments).
- As a member of his public interest, worth, Mr. Aguiar to review those who he was to SEC as a review partner as he is looked by more than 800,000 of professional investors plus his graduate degree from a recognized SEC university and over 20 years working.
- The complaints of the public in CAP requires an experienced and well-qualified Mr. Aguiar and when he is to pay for commission and expenses.
- Lastly by doublet we are on this monthly salary we are on the right of the major problems facing CAP/SEC.
- In the government's help, the amount is considered reasonable in relation to the overall business environment.
